A Time to Celebrate and Unite!

As we celebrate America's Independence on the 4th of July, it is another opportunity for us to focus on the ideals of freedom, peace and justice that make America great and another opportunity for us to unite behind the goal of improving America's economy.

For centuries, people of every nation and creed journeyed to America in search of freedom and opportunity. Many came to stake a claim in the vast American frontier, others sought employment during the Industrial Revolution, while others sought political asylum from oppressive governments. As we look at events throughout the world, we are reminded of even more reasons to honor the foresight of our founding fathers as they gathered in Philadelphia to sign the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776.

I urge you to honor the ideals of the 4th of July every day and support American workers and the products they produce and the private sector businesses employing them. By your actions more Americans can enjoy not only the freedom we cherish, but also have every opportunity possible to support themselves and their families and be part of the American dream. I believe if our forefathers were in charge of America's economy TODAY, America would be more economically secure. Happy 4th of July!
